pt not currently suicidal & is at lower risk than when he was here. Still carries substantial risk. I concur with our consultant, Col. Malne that decrease in precautions from suicide precautions to prevention of injury precautions. (0.5 min checks). Recommend that he not have access to belts, bootlaces, urine, trashbags, etc.

Skipper-I just spoke to GySGT Blevins about the detainee. They have the necessary paperwork from me and the OIC received it yesterday. Per GySGT, the OIC elected to continue suicide precautions, not from a suicide risk standpoint, but for security reasons. I do wish they would at least let him have his clothes back (I recommended no shoelaces or belts for example). I'm not real happy about this. However, my experience with the Brig has been that they stick to their guns. I'd appreciate your thoughts.

Doc,

If the recommendation from you and Col Malone is to move from suicide precautions to prevention of injury would you please ensure this has been communicated to the brig staff so they can allow appropriate clothing, etc? Seems like there may be a disconnect and the detainee is still on suicide precautions. Thank you.

Medical Officer's Remarks:

Put under my care and continues to improve. He has not reported any suicidal thoughts and guards have not reported any behavioral problem. I have discussed the case with my consultant, Col Meloy, who concurs that it is now safe to remove him from POT status due to his decreased level of risk. My understanding of Bay regulations is that all detainees on Max status are checked every 15 minutes. That should be sufficient. I will continue to follow him.

Team,

Medical Clinic Update through 15 October 2010:

1. Detainee seen by Naval Health Clinic Quantico Mental Health provider, CAPT Hocter on 12 Oct and 15 Oct 2010. Planned visit on 22 October 2010. Detainee remains stable and adjusted to routine. CAPT Hocter continues to recommend removal of POI precautions, but defers to brig for determination of status according to brig protocol. CAPT Hocter has also recommended that detainee be allowed opportunity to exercise in cell as he has noted a decline in physical conditioning in detainee over past weeks.

2. Contingency plan for Mental Health provider coverage has been activated in the event of CAPT Hocter's absence and unavailability. We have a qualified civilian contractor who will have their position description modified to enable them to provide services at the Brig when needed.

CAPT Hocter,

Thanks for the update. Did you tell me that you were planning a visit on the after Thanksgiving or the following Monday to cover last week? I thought that you and CAPT Moore visited. The report from the brig said there were no mental health visits/evaluations and I was just checking to see if we need to correct their weekly report. I also want to make sure that we are sensitive to the wording they are using in the report "due to brig Psychiatrist's absence."

26 Nov, day

Should any issues arise this has potential to be support for the defense in that we prescribed a once a week visit and that we also said we would send alternate behavioral health provider in the event that primary was not available. Not my intent to dictate medical treatment, but maintain awareness of highly visible scenario. These reports are seen at very high levels and may be inaccurate so I want to make sure we are correcting with respect to our information for the prescribed dates.

So for the week going forward from 30 Nov the weekly visit that should be captured in the brig report will be yesterday, 2 Dec 2010. It gets a little confusing when I augment their report. I am attaching the brig report for your awareness. Thanks for the continued effort in supporting brig operations.

ALCON,

Please note that our Mental Health provider, CAPT Hocter, has determined that a weekly visit, vice twice a week, is the appropriate frequency based on current status of detainee. Subject to adjustment as required. Will notify if any change to one visit per week.

Skipper-I saw Manning this afternoon. Looks much better. I've recommended removal from POI. The Brig staff did not have the precaution paperwork for me today because I was in and out fairly quickly. (I spent an hour there with Manning and a new patient in from Afghanistan between clinic patients)and I have asked them to fax it to me tomorrow.

Skipper-Manning looked more anxious and irritable today Although not suicidal, he appears more vulnerable, and I recommended he stay on POI today. The most important factor related to his change involves some environmental changes (TV news removed), which is difficult for a former intelligence analyst who wants to know what is going on. The situation is complicated-apparently Fox News reported that Manning's death had been reported on Twitter. Holiday loneliness also plays a role. I plan to visit him an additional time this week and to call his attorney to see if some family and friends might visit.

Skipper -

CAPT Hocter stopped by to inform you that he was called to the brig urgently this afternoon to evaluate mbr for an anxiety attack. He indicated that two of the guards were gruff in their demeanor today and this "sent mbr into heightened state of anxiety." (Likely reactive in nature due to guard's demeanor).

Mbr was able to be calmed via dialogue and presence of CAPT Hocter, no new or additional meds were required. CAPT Hocter's recommendation to brig was to continue POI, however, he recognizes that the brig guards are now anxious and they may impart suicide precautions for mbr. CAPT Hocter will relay all of this to COL Malone.

CAPT Hocter departs tomorrow for his deployment. Plan for follow-up tomorrow by either COL Malone or Ms. Cotter at brig.
