Good afternoon,

I have seen some information about your Galileo software and for the outset this may be of use to the new formed unit I am working from within Staffordshire Police in the UK, would you be able to answer the following points:

Can the software access WiFi points to check users and if so what data can be retrieved from this?

Can the software be remotely installed on the device or does a user have to follow a link or manually install.

Can you select what data is to be retrieved from a device or will the program automatically sent you all data?

How much will the program cost for a license to run for law enforcement.

May I thank you in advanced for your time in relation to this matter. If you have any further information you may feel appropriate then please do not hesitate to send this to me, or if there is a way we could see a demonstration of the system working that would be great.

Many Thanks

Chris
