Manual, August 98

1. Purpose. To establish program sponsor and advisor roles for the Information Dominance Corps (IDC) Reserve. This instruction is a complete revision and should be read in its entirety.

2. Cancellation. OPNAVINST 5401.8B.

3. Background. Reference (a) established the IDC as Active Component, Reserve Component, and civilian personnel in the fields of intelligence, information warfare, cryptology, information technology, meteorology, oceanography, and space. References (a) and (b) list rates and designators within the IDC. Per reference (c), the Commander, Navy Intelligence Reserve Command was renamed Commander, Information Dominance Corps Reserve Command (CIDCRC). Reference (d) delineates the mission functions and organization of CIDCRC.

4. Roles and Responsibilities

a. Program Sponsor. The Director of Naval Intelligence (DNI)/Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Information Dominance (CNO N2/N6) is the program and primary resource sponsor for the IDC Reserve. The program sponsor shall:

(1) Represent the IDC Reserve and advise the Chief of Naval Operations (CNO) concerning IDC Reserve planning and policy development.

(2) Act as the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations (OPNAV) point of contact and liaison for IDC Reserve issues in coordination with the Chief of Navy Reserve (CNO N095).

(3) Develop and coordinate OPNAV policies pertaining to the IDC Reserve.

(4) Coordinate with CNO N095 and the IDC Reserve community manager to ensure the IDC Reserve end-strength distribution meets CNO guidance.

(5) Develop and coordinate OPNAV policy concerning IDC Reserve operational support.

(6) Ensure that IDC Reserve forces are fully integrated into IDC training, operations, and missions.

(7) Coordinate IDC Reserve facilities and mobilization training requirements with Department of Defense, other services, Navy resource sponsors, and systems commands.

(8) Plan, program, and budget for IDC manpower, training, facilities, and equipment.

(9) Manage the corps of information communities to ensure optimum development and use of information community programs.

b. Program Advisor. The program advisor is the senior reserve flag officer in the IDC Reserve and is designated as Deputy DNI for Reserve Affairs. The program advisor shall:

(1) Report to the DNI/CNO N2/N6 to identify requirements and recommend policy regarding the IDC Reserve.

(2) Establish, develop, and recommend material requirements and technology equipment and infusion for the IDC Reserve.

(3) Serve as the senior IDC Reserve representative for training and professional development.

(4) Act as the DNI's representative to the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence Reserve Military Intelligence General Officer Steering Committee.

(5) Consult with and advise the DNI; Commander, Navy Reserve Forces Command; and CIDCRC concerning proposed changes affecting the IDC Reserve.

(6) Coordinate with Deputy Chief of Naval Personnel/ Commander, Navy Personnel Command to advise on the management of the long term health of officer and enlisted communities across the IDC Reserves.

5. Facilities

a. Standards for IDC Reserve drill facilities are established by reference (e), which will be used to assess the adequacy of current and proposed facilities. Additional space considerations beyond these standards may be necessary to meet the joint service requirements levied on the IDC Reserve under reference (f). Sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs) will be provided, as funding is available, for all IDC Reserve units designated by the program advisor or the active supported command as requiring SCIFs for operational support or mobilization training requirements.

b. Per references (f) and (g), and subsequent formal agreements between the Joint Reserve Intelligence Program Manager and CNO N2/N6, the DNI delegates authority to CIDCRC for all issues pertaining to the day-to-day oversight, management, operation, and maintenance of the Navy-sponsored Joint Reserve Intelligence Center sites.

6. Records Management. Records created as a result of this instruction, regardless of media and format, shall be managed per Secretary of the Navy Manual 5210.1 of January 2012.
