

URGENT

Dear Ramsés,

The following should be an easy challenge for you (but don't use it for personal purposes ;-)

a Dutch man married to a Dutch lady living in The Netherlands wants to protect part of his assets against the unpleasant results of a divorce (on the horizon!).

What are your recommendations on this. Would it be possible or even recommended to use a vintage foundation in order to avoid access of the ex-wife as creditor?

Thank you for your advise!

Best regards,
