FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT
SUBSECTIONS OF TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE, SECTION 552

Provisions of the Freedom of Information Act do not apply to matter that are:

- (b) (1) (A) specifically authorized under criteria established by an Executive Order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy and (B) are in fact properly classified pursuant to such Executive order;
- (b) (2) related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices any agency;
- (b) (3) specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (other than section 552b of this title), provided that such statute (A) requires that the matters be withheld from the public in such a manner as to leave no discretion on the issue, or (B) establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of matters to be withheld;
- (b) (4) trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential;
- (b) (5) inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency;
- (b) (6) personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy;
- (b) (7) records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, but only to the extent that the information: (A) could reasonable be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings; (B) would deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication;; (C) could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy; (D) could reasonable be expected to disclose the identity of a confidential source, including a State, local, or foreign agency or authority or any private institution which furnished information on a confidential basis, and, in the case of a record or information compiled by a criminal law enforcement authority in the course of a criminal investigation, or by an agency conducting a lawful national security intelligence investigation, information furnished by a confidential source; (E) would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law; (F) could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of any individual;
- (b) (8) contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of an agency responsible for regulation or supervision of financial institutions;
- (b) (9) geological and geophysical information and data, including maps, concerning wells.

PRIVACY ACT
SUBSECTIONS OF TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE, SECTION 552a

The provisions of the Privacy Act do not apply to:

- (d) (5) material compiled in reasonable anticipation of civil action or proceeding;
- (j) (2) material reporting investigative efforts pertaining to enforcement of criminal law including efforts to prevent, control, or reduce crime or apprehend criminals;
- (k)(1) material is currently and properly classified pursuant to an Executive Order in the interest of national defense or foreign policy;
- (k) (2) material compiled during investigations for law enforcement purposes;
- (k) (3) material maintained in connection with providing protective services to the President of the United States or other individuals pursuant to section 3056 of Title 18;
- (k) (5) investigatory material compiled solely for the purpose of determining suitability, eligibility, or qualifications for Federal civilian employment, military service, Federal contracts, or for access to classified information, but only to the extent that the disclosure of such material would reveal the identity of the person who furnished information to the Government under an express promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence, or prior to the September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence;
- (k) (6) testing or examination material used solely to determine individual qualifications for appointment or promotion in the Federal service the disclosure of which would compromise the objectivity or fairness of the testing or examination process;

Secret Service Participation in Tapings

With the disclosure of the taping of Presidential conversations in the White House made by _____ to the Ervin Committee and the events which followed, the Secret Service will document its connection with this activity. An inspector will be selected and given the responsibility of preparing a report outlining the inception of this activity which was requested by the President to the Technical Security Division through _____. The report will also include the control of the taped conversations in the White House complex and Camp Lavid, the extent of the knowledge of this activity within the Secret Service and the White House staff, and a review of the testimony given by the Secret Service on this matter during the hearings related to the tapes conducted in Judge Sirica's court.

The Technical Development and Planning Division will supply a qualified engineer to the inspector upon request if technical questions arise.

I suggest that any further contacts with the White House staff, the prosecutor's office, the Treasury Department, be conducted through this inspector and that the Technical Security Division divorce itself from any further participation in this matter. This may require that the inspector handling the report maintain an office within the Technical Security Division so that he is readily available to the staff.

The primary purpose of the report will be to bring into one document the history of the Secret Service's participation in this Presidential request. The inspector will have the full cooperation of all Secret Service employees on this project.

Secret Service Participation in Tapes

On July 10, 1974, the Washington Post carried a story reported by the Los Angeles Times of that date, to the effect that House Judiciary Committee lawyers were able to get an additional 15 minute segment of a White House tape when a Secret Service agent at the White House overseeing the copying inadvertently let the recorder run past the section previously transcribed. A copy of the Washington Post article is attached.

The tape in question is the March 22, 1973 EOB Office tape the additional 15 minute segment reportedly contains conversation damaging to the President.

This incident allegedly occurred on March 22, 1974 when Security Specialists and were assigned to assist representatives of the White House and the House Judiciary Committee in cueing up certain tapes for duplication.

Transcripts Link Nixon to Cover-Up

By Lou Cannon and Jules Witcover
 Washington Post Staff Writers

President Nixon, nine days after ruling that White House aides not disclose their involvement in the Watergate cover-up, explicitly ordered on March 22, 1973, that the cover-up go on, in these tape-recorded words:

"I don't give a shit what happens. I want you all to stonewall it, let them plead the Fifth Amendment, cover-up or anything else, if it'll save it—save the plan. That's the whole point."

The quote—omitted in the White House transcript of the conversation of that date—is in transcripts from the actual tapes of eight presidential conversations made by the House Judiciary Committee and released yesterday. The committee obtained the tapes from the Watergate grand jury last March 26.

In the same March 22 conversation, the Judiciary Committee version shows the President saying former Attorney General John N. Mitchell was arguing that "we use flexibility . . . in order to get on with the cover-up plan." The White House version has Mr. Nixon saying Mitchell was arguing "that now we use flexibility in order to get off the cover-up line."

In still another Judiciary Committee version filling in words omitted in the White House version, the President is quoted as telling then-White House Counsel John W. Dean III on March 13, 1973, that it was too late to exercise the option of telling all.

"The hang-out road's going to have to be rejected," he says in the Judiciary Committee transcript. The same portion in the White House version reads: "The hang-out road (inaudible)."

The new committee versions of the White House tapes—obtained from higher quality equipment than used by the White House—reveal not only omissions from the White House versions but significant discrepancies, often damaging to the President's impeachment defense.

Beyond that, they generally convey much more the image of a Chief Executive in charge than do the White House transcripts, and of a President sometimes ambivalent but ultimately moving to support continuance of the cover-up.

The transcript of the March 22 meeting by Mr. Nixon and Mr. Mitchell, which was released to the Judiciary Committee in the transcripts, they are

Secret Service Participation in Tapings

Referred

Subsequent testimony by White House Staff and Secret Service personnel before Judge Sirica in U. S. District Court, Washington, D. C., relative to production by the President of certain tapes of these conversations, demonstrated the need for this Service to bring together into one report the history of our participation in this activity. In this connection, reference is made to memorandum of Assistant Director Kelley to you dated November 12, 1973.

What follows is a chronological account of events, as best as can be reconstructed, of Secret Service participation in setting up the recording system, the handling and control of tapes generated by the system, and a review of testimony given by our personnel in Judge Sirica's court and in private to the Special Prosecutor's Office.

Richard Ben-Veniste of the Special Prosecutor's Office telephoned DAD Wong, requesting information as to records maintained by TSD on recorders used in the taping system, and other recorders loaned to certain White House staff members. Ben-Veniste was desirous of obtaining copies of these records.

Wong referred this request to Sims who then prepared a memorandum for Mr. Schmults, Treasury General Counsel, outlining the record keeping procedures in TSD. Sims suggested in this memorandum that if any Secret Service documents are provided to the Special Prosecutor, an appropriate Secret Service representative should be interviewed by the Special Prosecutor to explain our procedures.

The panel of technical experts appointed by Judge Sirica to determine the cause of an 18 $\frac{1}{4}$ minute gap in the June 20, 1972, tape reported to the Judge in open court that the gap was the result of the "process of erasing and re-recording at least five, and perhaps as many as nine segments."

Based on findings of the technical experts, Judge Sirica reopened the hearing and called for further testimony from knowledgeable witnesses, including Sims and

January 16, 1974

Sims was called to testify in Judge Sirica's court. He produced documents identifying those tape recorders which were in use when the White House taping system was dismantled on July 18, 1973. He was unable to state whether or not these were the same recorders that were used when the system was initiated. In response to a question as to when wires and cables involved in the taping system were cut, Sims advised he could not recall the precise date, but it would show in the "file" relating to the White House taping system. Assistant Prosecutor Ben-Veniste then asked that this "file" be made available, and Judge Sirica concurred, over objection by White House Counsel.

Further questioning of Sims mainly centered around the Uher 5000 recorder which was purchased by this Service on October 1, 1973, at the request of [redacted] Sims testified that the machine was delivered to [redacted] that date about 1:00/1:15 P.M., and its operation was explained to him. Sims produced the receipt purportedly signed by [redacted] acknowledging receipt of the recorder and foot pedal. Sims was asked if he knew whether or not [redacted] or [redacted] brought the Uher recorder to Key Biscayne during the President's visit there on October 4-7, 1973; he responded in the negative.

Ben-Veniste read from previous testimony given by [redacted] indicating that she had [redacted] bring this recorder to Key Biscayne that weekend; also that she and [redacted] upon arrival at Key Biscayne, obtained a safe from GSA or Secret Service, and had the Secret Service guard the safe around the clock. Ben-Veniste asked that any records maintained by the Secret Service relative to guarding this safe be made available to the Special Prosecutor. (The safe was used for storage of tapes which brought with her to transcribe over that long weekend. Copies of the log maintained by the Presidential Protective Division were obtained the next day (January 17) and provided to Ben-Veniste and White House Counsel, but there was no further questioning of Secret Service employees concerning the activity at Key Biscayne that weekend.)

On the evening of January 16, Sims was interviewed at the Special Prosecutor's Office. Referred

In accordance with Judge Sirica's instruction, Sims had with him the file he was maintaining on the taping system, and the file was reviewed by attorneys for the Special Prosecutor. They requested and were given certain documents from the file. Referred

This proved to be a point of temporary embarrassment for this Service, in that some of the news media that night reported it to be a forgery. What actually happened, as was explained by when he testified the next day, was that he signed name on the receipt and placed his own initials next to the signature. Referred

I subsequently advised Sims to instruct his personnel that they should have recipients of loaned equipment sign the appropriate receipt themselves.

January 17, 1974

was called to testify before Judge Sirica. Assistant Prosecutor Ben-Veniste questioned relative to his record keeping of tapes checked out to Steven Bull on various dates. (Previous testimony by disclosed that on two occasions, June 4 and July 10, 1973, he released tapes to but had no separate record to support log book entries of the dates these tapes were returned.) Ben-Veniste asked about six other tapes that were checked out to on July 11, 1973; and again, there was no documentation by showing return of these tapes.

bb, b7c

Ben-Veniste also asked questions concerning some of the information contained in memorandum to me dated November 19, 1973 (this is one of the documents Sims provided to the Special Prosecutor on January 16).

Sims was recalled to the stand after completed his testimony. White House attorneys and Ben-Veniste immediately engaged in an argument over the fact that when Sims was interviewed the previous evening in the Special Prosecutor's Office, the White House attorneys were excluded from the interview. Judge Sirica ruled there was no requirement that they be present, despite his own suggestion that Sims should get together with counsel from both sides to examine the documents that Sims had in his file.

Ben-Veniste questioned Sims relative to information contained in some of the memoranda that Sims had provided the Special Prosecutors the previous evening. One of these reports, dated November 26, 1973, from Sims to AD Kelley, advises of the request made by Buzhardt for TSD assistance in filtering a portion of the June 20, 1972 tape. Ben-Veniste read from other memoranda, reporting various tasks performed by TSD at Buzhardt's request.

Sims concluded his testimony by advising the Court that the Secret Service did not have any other Uher 5000 recorders at Key Biscayne on the October 4-7, 1973 weekend. (A question to this effect had been asked of Sims by Ben-Veniste during the previous day's testimony, and Sims advised he would inquire and provide an answer the next day.)

At 7:35 P.M., and again at 8:55 P.M. this date, the alarm covering [redacted], sounded. TSD and EPS personnel responded immediately on both occasions, but the door was found to be secure. Examination the next day of the alarming mechanism indicated the alarm was no doubt activated because of a malfunctioning part (a dirty output potentiometer). General Bennett, the White House custodian of tapes, was advised of these incidents.
